STUDY SESSION

2. Complete Streets Plan

Discussion of next steps.

Deputy Director of Transportation Aaron Kunz and Transportation Planner Jessie Holzer provided a presentation on the status of the Complete Streets Plan. Staff, along with Iteris Consultant Deepak Kaushik and Alta Planning + Design Consultant Lydia Kenselaar held a discussion with the Commission to obtain input on the following four questions related to the plan:

- Is anything missing from the list of potential infrastructure, policies, and programs?
- Are the potential infrastructure, policies, and programs moving in the right direction?
- Should anything in the potential infrastructure, policies, and programs be removed?
- Which potential infrastructure, policies, and programs be prioritized for short-term implementation (first 5 years after plan adoption)? Identify your top 5 infrastructure projects and top 5 policies/programs.

The meeting format was a study session to provide the Commission an opportunity to discuss elements of the Complete Streets Plan before development of the draft plan. Public Comment was provided throughout the meeting by David Gingold, Sharon Ignarro, Kory Klem, and Mark Elliot. The Commission discussed topics such as City infrastructure, advancements in technology, pedestrian improvements, data collection, and the next steps of the process for the draft plan, along with individual priorities. The next steps include providing a status update to the City Council/Traffic and Parking Commission Liaison Committee, followed by the release of the draft plan. The Commission concurred that an additional special evening Traffic and Parking Commission meeting should be held to review the draft plan.
