DESCRIPTION:

Formal landscaping, keyed by carefully shaped hedges and symmetrically planted trees, sets the tone for this two story American Colonial Revival home. A side gable roof with a slight overhang caps the shingled structure. Windows are equally spaced double-hung sash, six-over-six on the upper floor and hidden by foliage on the lower. Shutters flank the openings. The central entry is framed by an open pediment set on brackets which rise from pilasters. A brick path leads to the panelled door and semi-circular fan light. No compromising alterations detract from the integrity of the facade.
