

STATEMENT OF ROBIN ROWE

Candidate For Member
Of The City Council
Beverly Hills City General
Municipal Election

Age: 63

Occupation: UN Subcommittee
Chairman

None of the Beverly Hills synagogues had been protected by Beverly Hills security network by the City Council. They forgot.

I lived next to Nessah. After the tragic and preventable Nessah Synagogue break-in, I urged our then Chief of Police to add Nessah to be protected by Beverly Hills CCTV security. City workers were the next day installing cameras at Nessah.

Another example, they promised us high speed Internet. The cost, with budget overruns, over $40 million. Does it work? No.

The City Council is well known for issuing proclamations supporting distant good causes, such as for the people of Israel, and for increasing the city budget to $626 million. 32,000 residents. Did each of us receive city services worth $20,000 this year? No.

Support increasing public safety through smarter utilization of police and fire department resources, free high-speed Internet, AI to stop noisy street racers, and a Beverly Hills security hotline to ask to be escorted at night.

Security? I'm the candidate with national security experience, chaired a subcommittee under the Director of U.S. Homeland Security.

Your vote can make Beverly Hills stop making silly mistakes and blindly throwing money around.
